Councillor's Message

It was a busy weekend in the ward. I had the pleasure, along with Mayor Watson, of cutting the ribbon to welcome a new business to the ward. London Eco-Roof is open and ready to do business. For more information, please visit: <http://www.londonecoroof.com/>

If you are a new business or know of one opening, please let me know. I am always happy to promote ward businesses. In fact, Friday night, Kristen and I enjoyed a great dinner at the Merivale Fish and Seafood Grill and Market. A long-time Nepean business that just seems to keep on getting better.

After the London Eco-Roof opening, I helped out at the Merivale Loblaws with the Capital Food Blitz in support of the Ottawa Food Bank. Thanks to all the Ward 9 residents who generously donated.

Many thanks also goes out to all those who contributed to the success of Frank's Catering & Baked Goods' Annual Fundraiser for Tourette's Research. You may recall that Frank, who runs his business on Greenbank Road, was the recipient of a Ward 9 Volunteer Award last year. This year he raised almost $5,000 dollars! To learn about this community-minded business, please check out his website at <http://www.franksfoods.ca/>.

On Sunday, I had the opportunity to check out some fabulous field hockey when the Nepean Nighthawks hosted their annual tournament. I also had the privilege of handing out medals to the participants. To find out more about this club, please check out their website at <http://nepeanfieldhockey.ca/>.

A meeting of interest this week was the Audit Sub-Committee during which the 2013 City of Ottawa Consolidated Financial Statements was presented. These can be found at the following link: <http://app05.ottawa.ca/sirepub/agdocs.aspx?doctype=agenda&itemid=318759>.

Councillor Egli joins Mayor Watson at the Grand Opening of London Eco-Roof Manufacturing Inc. on Saturday, June 21st.

At Council, the Hydro Ottawa Holding Inc. 2013 Annual Report was presented. It can be found at the following link: <http://app05.ottawa.ca/sirepub/agdocs.aspx?doctype=agenda&itemid=319068>

Finally, I was pleased to be part of the unveiling of four new planning initiatives in the city. One of these initiatives— clearer, more understandable planning application signs— was based on a suggestion I had made to Chair Hume after seeing such signs while on vacation in Arizona. More details on these changes are available later on in this newsletter.

I want to wish everyone a happy and safe Canada Day!

Until next week,

Keith

City to Make Planning Information and Consultations Clearer, More Transparent

Better development signage, the use of plain language, easier-to-use development reports, and a pilot project to improve community engagement were the four new initiatives unveiled by Mayor Jim Watson and Councillor Peter Hume, Chair of the City's Planning Committee. The goal of the initiatives is to make City planning information and consultations clearer, easier to understand, and more transparent. The changes to the information and communication tools include:

- Development street signs will be revamped to provide residents with greater clarity on what exactly to expect from the development application proposal. The sign will feature plainer language and a street-level image of the proposal (where applicable).
- Plain language will be used to make information easier to understand on matters of planning policy and proposed development applications.
- A report template has been designed to make it easier to find and contact the planner on the file for public feedback. It will also link to relevant documentation and will feature a one-page data sheet that gives a thumbnail overview of the application

The fourth initiative that is being introduced is a one-year pilot project in Capital Ward that allows registered Community Associations to participate in pre-application consultations meetings between developers and City planners. The one-year pilot will start in August of this year. A report to Planning Committee on its results will be tabled next summer.

Councillor Egli joins Councillor Hume, Mayor Watson, Councillor Chernushenko, and Councillor Thompson at the unveiling of the new development signage on Monday, June 23rd outside the Heritage Building.
